

REPORT OF THE
PRESIDENT
1970-1971

LEBANON VALLEY COLLEGE
ANNVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA

INTRODUCTION

Each person closely associated with the daily life of Lebanon Valley College perceived the 1970-1971 year slightly differently from his colleagues. Some compared similarities with previous years. Others contrasted the great differences from previous years. Some emphasized programs while others voiced concern about attitudes.

The reports that unfold in these pages give some information which each reader can use to make his own judgement or do his own emphasizing. But whatever one chooses to emphasize or however one chooses to judge, all of us must recognize that there is no substitute for the understanding and cooperation of all who share a commitment to the College—students, faculty, administrators, supporting staff, trustees, alumni, parents of students, and other friends. Every one of us depends on all others.

Introducing this 1970-1971 report with an anticipation of 1971-1972, I enthusiastically use a statement from one of the academic departments:

"We point to continued pursuit of the goals of relevancy without loss of historical perspective, of flexibility without academic flabbiness, with a high level of intellectual performance by both staff and students. At the same time, the maximum possible personal attention will be given to the development of the dimensions of human existence, which alone can make Lebanon Valley unique among educational institutions."

THE STUDENTS

The students of 1970-1971 can be categorized in many different ways. Although our aim is to work with them as individuals, it is helpful sometimes to look at the numbers which apply to them as a group. The year began with 949 full-time students (530 men and 419 women). There were 41 part-time students. In addition to these students in the day program, 72 students participated in evening classes, and 359 attended classes at the University Center in Harrisburg. All of these figures were reduced for the second semester.

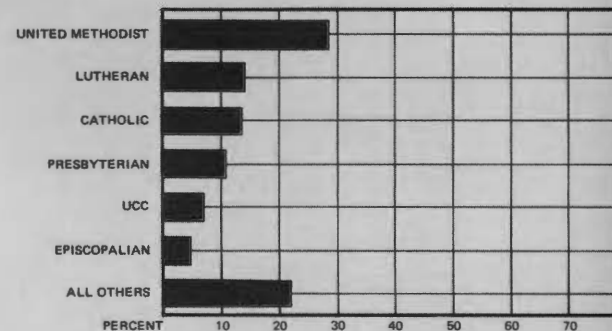

The students came to the campus from seven countries, fifteen states, and forty-seven counties within Pennsylvania. The accompanying graphs give additional information. Almost eighty per cent of the full-time students lived in campus dormitories.

Many students were troubled, both by the serious spiritual, social, and political problems of their times and by confusion about their own life styles. This has resulted, as it has at most institutions, in some problems of student government and slackened discipline. For the most part, however, students at Lebanon Valley have continued to recognize the rights of others and their own obligation to maintain an orderly and honorable presence on campus.

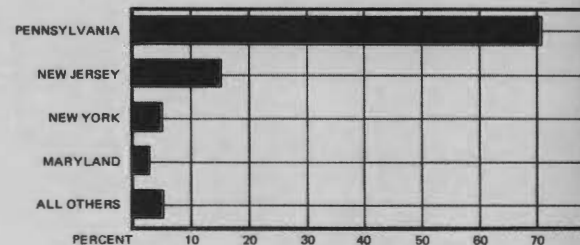

The academic progress of the students appeared strong, as indicated by increased numbers on the Dean's list and increased numbers elected to Phi Alpha Epsilon. Fewer students were suspended for academic reasons. There was also a larger than usual number of seniors who received departmental honors at commencement in June. Three each of these students were in elementary education, English, and psychology, while one received combined honors in English and psychology.

In addition to the successes met in the classroom, the students enriched their lives with diverse accomplishments in other areas. The concert choir included Town Hall on its annual tour. The basketball team won the league championship. The Fine Arts Festival was an unusual first year success. Many clubs and groups provided service to the elderly, to the children, and to the underprivileged of our community.

GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION OF FULL-TIME STUDENTS

MAJOR FIELDS OF STUDY

THE FACULTY

Among the seven full-time faculty members who were new to Lebanon Valley College in September, 1970, were three departmental chairmen. Dr. Elaine S. Berson, Dr. Robert S. Davidon, and Dr. Joerg W. P. Mayer began service as chairmen of the departments of sociology, psychology, and mathematics respectively. Also new to the faculty were Mr. Philip A. Billings, Assistant Professor of English; Dr. John R. Horgan, Jr., Instructor in Physics; Mr. Donald E. Jeannet, Assistant Professor of French; and Dr. Mark L. Lyndrup, Assistant Professor of Chemistry.

Although there were no retirements at the close of the year, there was an unusually large number of faculty who concluded services at the College for a variety of reasons. They were: Dr. Sylvia Malm, Assistant Professor of Biology; Dr. Robert E. Griswold, Associate Professor of Chemistry; Mr. Vinod P. Maniyar, Assistant Professor of Economics; Mr. D. John Grace, Instructor in Accounting; Mr. John P. Ramsay, Instructor in English; Dr. Eleanor Titcomb, Associate Professor of French; Mr. Donald E. Jeannet, Assistant Professor of French; Mr. Ronald A. Rogerson, Instructor in Physical Education; Dr. Keith L. Kilgore, Instructor in Political Science; Mrs. Mary B. Lewin, Assistant Professor of Mathematics; Mr. Ronald J. Burrichter, Instructor in Voice. Many man hours were devoted to the recruitment of new faculty members for 1971-1972.

The faculty of Lebanon Valley College continued the high quality of instruction for which it is noted. Many awards and honors came to several faculty members. The diversity of the faculty was illustrated by the fact that more than forty-five institutions have conferred bachelor's degrees upon them, and more than fifty have given them graduate degrees. This diversity in backgrounds has given the campus a pluralism and a stimulation that have added strength and interest to our program.

CURRICULUM & PROGRAM

Hardly any department went without some sort of curriculum revision during the year, although no complete revision was undertaken in any area. Changes in mathematics will make the program more serviceable to non-mathematics majors, especially those in the science areas. New courses were added in religion, history, physics, education, English, music, and psychology. The actuarial science program has been greatly strengthened by the authorization of a two semester sequence in life contingencies.

After a visitation from an evaluation team representing the Pennsylvania Department of Education in November, 1970, the College was informed that all of its teacher education programs have been approved for another five years in keeping with the general policy of the Department.

During the year the College began a major self study in anticipation of the evaluation for accreditation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools next year. An evaluation team representing the Middle States Association will visit the College in April, 1972. As always, the benefit of this experience will be determined chiefly by the honesty and thoroughness with which the institution examines itself.

One of the new programs which touched both the curricular and co-curricular areas of the College was the Fine Arts Festival held in May. This festival enjoyed an unusual success in its first year, and plans are already underway for its second. Many persons cooperated in its initiation under the leadership of student Donald Frantz.

THE LIBRARY

Mr. William E. Hough, III, assumed the leadership in the Gossard Memorial Library, and, as Head Librarian, he has continued and initiated improvements in our program.

The main floor of the building was improved with the installation of air conditioning, while additional physical improvements allowed for better utilization of space and for convenience in the use of library holdings.

Studies were initiated regarding the holdings of the library and the service it provides the faculty and students. The library became a member of the Area College Library Cooperative Program of Central Pennsylvania.

Additional studies developed into a proposal for changing the library classification system from the Dewey Decimal System to that of the Library of Congress. This major task will probably begin in 1971-1972.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

The faculty and the students were served by the following full-time professional administrative staff:

- President
- Three Vice-Presidents
- One Assistant Dean and Registrar
- Two Student Deans
- Two Admissions officers
- Four librarians
- Two Development officers
- Three Public Relations officers
- One Director of Alumni Relations
- One Chaplain
- Two Business Office personnel
- One Nurse
- One Director of Athletics
- One College Center Director
- One Bookstore Manager

Dr. Earl Mezoff concluded service as Vice President and Assistant to the President, and Mr. William McHenry concluded services as Director of Athletics. Mr. Richard Showers and Mrs. Ann Monteith concluded services in Public Relations. Mrs. Monteith, however, plans to assist part time.

Although the administrative staff was purposely limited in size the achievements and progress of the group assisted immensely in the growth and development of the College. Plans remain to keep the administrative staff as small as possible and to eliminate red tape wherever possible.

ADMISSIONS

Contrary to the general downward trend of applications for admission to liberal arts colleges, the Lebanon Valley College admissions office has reported an increase in applications for admission to the College in September, 1971. Preparations were originally made for 330 new students. This number was later reduced to approximately 315 when it became apparent that the retention of present students was going to be higher than anticipated.

These positive signs spoke well for the admissions program. The prospective students also had the benefit of the recently revised financial aid policy which was in its second year of assistance to new students. Meeting the financial need of students continued to be a major problem, but the combination of state federal, private, and College resources was of great help.

PHYSICAL IMPROVEMENTS

The largest, most anticipated project on campus was the construction of the College Center. Limited use of the Center began in late spring as different areas were completed, while preparation was made for full use in September. This facility was made possible by the use of borrowed money, and its repayment is the first priority of our "Fund for Fulfillment."

As the College Center was nearing completion, a new dormitory for women was begun. This new dormitory is scheduled for completion in early 1972, and it will allow for discontinuing the use of Kreider Hall as a men's dormitory. As women are transferred from Keister Hall to the new dormitory, men will be transferred from Kreider Hall to Keister Hall.

Another property on College Avenue was purchased to provide improved space for faculty offices. Classrooms in the Administration Building were renovated. Scoreboards were added to the football field and to the gym. Instructional equipment was up-graded, and walkways and roadways were improved.

Also, many plans for the future were prepared. More information about these appears under the section on the "Fund for Fulfillment."

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

The 1970-71 year marked the first year of the new constitution for the Alumni Association. The Board of Governors functioned smoothly and contributed both to the Association and to the College. The year showed a 4.6% increase in alumni participation in the varied activities sponsored by the Association and the Alumni Office.

New programs, such as the Elementary Education Alumni Day, brought more people to the campus, while new efforts to go to the alumni, such as the reception for alumni attending the Music Educators National Conference, involved additional people off campus.

Among the five alumni representatives on the Board of Trustees are Mr. E. Peter Strickler, who was reelected for a term to expire June, 1974, and Mr. Walter Levinsky, who was elected for the same term. The Association's representatives on the Board of Trustees, on many committees, and in other efforts of the College have continued to enhance the quality of our institution.

THE FUTURE

Many of the foundations from which we conduct our program have been changed in recent years. The Charter and by-laws of the College have been revised, the student government policy has been changed, and a new constitution has been adopted for the Alumni Association. How well these changes will stand the test of time is still to be seen, but the future can and will be strong if all who are associates and friends of the College will help when help is needed.

It is always humbling to express thanks to those who have given so much to assure our present and our future. Dr. Allan Mund concluded nine years as Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Although he passed this office to Mr. Malcolm Meyer, he will continue service on the Board and on many of its committees. One cannot value enough the outstanding leadership Dr. Mund provided and the many obligations he assumed, including that of Acting President from April, 1967, until September, 1968. For his past service and for his future assistance we express our thanks.

With this report I recognize the passing to his eternal reward of Dr. Francis H. Wilson, Professor Emeritus of Biology.

FUND FOR FULFILLMENT

The year was filled with preparations for the "Fund for Fulfillment." This bold adventure has begun.

The program has been designed to meet the major physical needs of the campus. The College Center, a Music Building, a Science Building, increased endowment, renovation of the educational facilities of the Administration Building, a bridge over the railroad, a campus entrance, and decreased indebtedness are the varied projects of this long range program.

Plans have been made to request a separate, beneficent gift from everyone who is interested in Lebanon Valley College. The idea of an extra gift has been emphasized so that we do not neglect our Annual Giving Program which supports the daily educational efforts of the College. The great development of the past two decades will come to full maturity with the "Fund for Fulfillment," while the strength of our curriculum will be heightened by the Annual Giving Program. Plans have been made for all of us to participate in both.

The completion of these plans will provide separate and well-arranged areas for academic programs, residential and social life, and recreational and athletic activities.

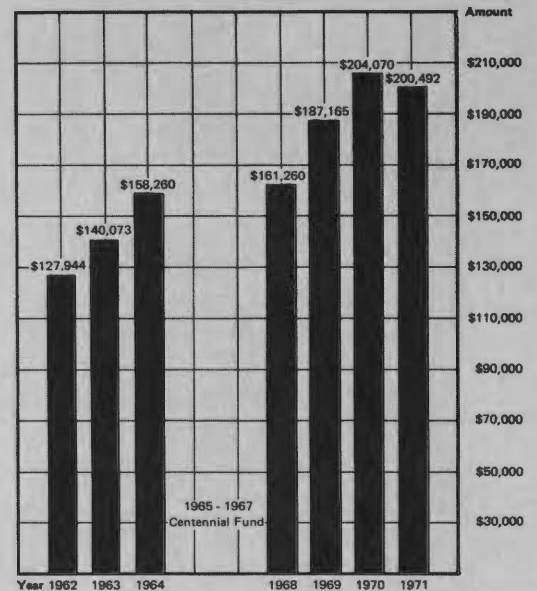

COMMITMENT THROUGH GIVING

For the second straight year, total giving to Lebanon Valley College exceeded one-half million dollars. This accomplishment was an essential factor in enabling the College to complete the year without a deficit: an occurrence becoming less and less common among small colleges in America.

Therefore, the members of the Board of Trustees, the faculty, and the administration express their sincere appreciation to the contributors who are listed on these pages and who made possible the continuation of quality education at Lebanon Valley College.

We have strived to be as accurate as possible in the preparation of this report. However, if there are any omissions or corrections, we hope you will understand and inform us of our error.

CHURCH PARTICIPATION

We are pleased to report an increase over last year in the area of financial support from the Eastern Pennsylvania and the Central Pennsylvania Conferences of the United Methodist Church.

Effective January, 1971, the Eastern Conference included the College in its annual budget. In addition, its support to the College was supplemented through the initiation of the Dollars-for-Scholars Program—a promising innovation spearheaded by the laymen of each parish. The Central Conference continued its program of individual church support and has already taken action to provide college support from the budget effective January, 1972.

During the past fiscal year, congregations of both Conferences contributed a total of $31,130 to the Lebanon Valley College Fund. The College is appreciative of this giving and looks forward to a strengthened relationship with the bishops, district superintendents, pastors, and laymen of both Conferences.

GIFTS BY ALUMNI AND FRIENDS

Lebanon Valley College is grateful to these many alumni and friends who invested in the 1970 - 1971 Lebanon Valley College Fund. Please note that 2050 of those alumni solicited, (many alumni addresses are unknown) made contributions to the College. This is an all-time Annual Giving record. Correspondingly, it is gratifying to report that the support of parents and other friends of the College increased for the fourth consecutive year and set new all-time highs. A special word of thanks is due to the faculty and administrative staff, 94% of whom underscored their faith and concern for Lebanon Valley College by responding generously to this year's program.

MATCHING GIFTS

An increasing number of donors are becoming aware of the Matching Gift Program that has been adopted by many businesses and industries throughout the country. Under this program, the employee's contribution is matched by an equivalent amount by the participating company. It is important to note that most firms will not only match the gift of an alumnus, but also that of a parent or a friend.

Contributors to the Lebanon Valley College Fund who may have questions regarding the matching gifts program should feel free to write the Director of Development at the College. He can supply the names of businesses which subscribe to this program.

This year 42 firms made matching gifts to the College totaling $4800. We thank both the donors and the employers.
